

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE

DEPARTMENT OF EAST ASIAN STUDIES
Asian Studies Centre Seminar Series

The University of Cambridge Department of East Asian Studies is pleased to announce the following lecture in its series of East Asian seminars.

ALL ARE WELCOME

Please note this talk is not in the faculty

Time: 2pm, Wednesday, 25 January 2012

Venue: Old Library, Darwin College, Cambridge University

Special Talk: Towards Reconstruction “Hope beyond the Disaster”
The Great East Japan Earthquake, 3.11

Professor Makoto Iokibe, President of the National Defense Academy of Japan and
Chairman of the Reconstruction Design Council

Professor Makoto Iokibe is President of the National Defense Academy. Graduating with an MA from Kyoto University, he taught at Hiroshima University from 1969-1981, and was then Professor of diplomatic history at Kobe University from 1981-2006. He was a Visiting Fellow at Harvard University from 1977-1979, and 2002-2003, and at the London School of Economics and Political Sciences (LSE) from 1990-1991. He was appointed to his current position in August 2006 and has also been chairing the Reconstruction Design Council of the Great East Japan Earthquake since April 2011.

For further information contact:

For further information please contact John Swenson-
Wright on jhs22@cam.ac.uk

Generously supported by the Daiwa Anglo-Japanese Foundation and Japan Airlines