

Korean Language Teacher

Faculty of Asian and Middle Eastern Studies

Job Reference: GX29655
Closing Date: 1 March 2022

The Role

Salary:

£31,406—£40,927 (Pro rata for 0.5 FTE)

Contract:

5 year fixed term in the first instance. Starting 1 September 2022.

Location:

Central Cambridge

Department:

Faculty of Asian and Middle Eastern Studies

Working Pattern:

Part-time

This part-time language teaching position (0.5 FTE) is part of the department's promotion of Korean Studies and is intended to complement our existing teaching and research in Japanese and Chinese studies. The main duty of the position will consist of teaching two Korean language papers each year, including the beginner as well as intermediate level.

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES

Plan, prepare, and execute Korean language seminars, lectures, and classes at all levels for both undergraduate and postgraduate students. Develop lesson materials and entire curriculums appropriate to the tripos system to create coherence and connectivity across different years. This includes pre-term teaching and planning as well as evaluation to assign students to appropriate levels.

Participate in examinations, including Examiners' meeting and deliver oral and practical examinations. Provide marking and assessment of work submitted by students. Provide feedback to students as well as references for students when necessary

Participate in the tutoring and supervision system as necessary. Provide pastoral care to students at colleges when appropriate and deliver supervision sessions for students to deepen Korean-language training and complement existing Korean language classes.

Participate in the planning and coordination of the language year abroad for students in their third years. This involves coordinating with language training institutions in Korea, checking curricula to meet faculty expectations and requirements, recommending institutions to students, and ensuring students receive the training appropriate to their levels.

Participate in faculty meetings, outreach/open days, and perform administrative duties commensurate with the grade of the role. Collaborate with other subject teachers within the department as required in order to ensure co-ordination of effort.

Participating in the Korean Studies Subject Group within the faculty in matters such as holding Korean Studies events, curriculum expansion, and other administrative work related to the maintenance, promotion and long-term development of Korean Studies.

Conduct individual research related to Korean linguistics and Korean Studies at large. Maintain a research profile and provide lectures and presentations on personal research topic in content papers and academic events in the faculty when necessary

The Faculty of Asian and Middle Eastern Studies

The Faculty of Asian and Middle Eastern Studies combines world class scholarship with a vibrant teaching and learning environment for undergraduates and postgraduate students. Our academics are engaged in internationally recognized scholarship on the histories, literatures, linguistics, social anthropology, religion, politics, and contemporary cultures of the Middle East, North Africa, China, Japan, and the two Koreas. The work of several staff crosses traditional geographic and subject boundaries. All our work is firmly grounded in primary source research. The Faculty maintains a close relationship with various Research Institutes across the University. The Faculty combines excellence in teaching, academic rigour and research with a strong tradition of support for its students. In Cambridge, most students identify more with their colleges than with their university department. The opposite is the case for our students. The Faculty Library, with 70,000 monographs, nearly 2,000 DVDs, and a wide range of journal subscriptions, is a key and comfortable facility, to which graduate students have 24 hour access.

The Faculty consists of two departments: the Department of East Asian Studies and the Department of Middle Eastern Studies. It is home to the Centre of Islamic Studies, which promotes a critical understanding of Islam and Muslims in wider society. The Faculty's work is overseen by a Faculty Board, to which a range of committees report, while financially it is underpinned by several significant trust funds.

Further information about the Faculty is available at www.ames.cam.ac.uk.

The school of Arts and Humanities

The School of Arts and Humanities is one of six schools in the University and it is currently comprised of:

- Faculty of Asian and Middle Eastern Studies
- Faculty of Architecture and History of Art
- Faculty of Classics
- Faculty of Divinity
- Faculty of English
- Faculty of Modern and Medieval Languages
- Faculty of Music
- Faculty of Philosophy
- Centre for Research into the Arts, Social Sciences and Humanities
- University of Cambridge Language Centre
- Leverhulme Centre for the Future of Intelligence

Combined, these institutions have a total annual budget in excess of £35million, 650 staff and 3,500 students.

The School has recently agreed a new strategic plan, which sets out its overarching vision and objectives.

Vision

Our vision is to preserve the excellence of the School of Arts and Humanities in research, and undergraduate and postgraduate teaching and supervision, while enhancing our capacity to undertake world-leading and life-changing innovative, interdisciplinary research and teaching.

Strategic Objectives

1. To uphold the Cambridge tradition of undertaking research and teaching across a wide breadth and diversity of Arts and Humanities disciplines to the highest possible standard.
2. Relevant, problem-solving interdisciplinary work must be grounded in disciplinary excellence.
3. Enhance our research excellence across the disciplinary spectrum, underpinned by effective support.
4. Expand capacity in our academic disciplines in a way that is modest, selective and designed imaginatively to build incentives for innovative and cross-disciplinary work.
5. Improve the efficiency of our governance structures by streamlining and optimising operations and procedures.

The University

The University of Cambridge is one of the world's oldest and most successful universities. We are a renowned centre for research, education, and scholarship that makes a significant contribution to society. The University is consistently ranked amongst the top universities in the world. Our affiliates have won more Nobel Prizes than any other University.

Our sustained pursuit of academic excellence is built on a long history of first-class teaching and research within a distinctive collegiate system. For eight centuries our ideas and innovations have shaped the world. Our principal goal is to remain one of the world's leading universities in an increasingly competitive global higher education sector. Today the University of Cambridge is at the centre of a cluster of over 4,300 businesses employing 58,000 people.

Our capital investment projects include the West Cambridge site, the North West Cambridge development and the growth of the Biomedical Campus in the south of the city. The North West Cambridge development includes the opening of a primary school – the first in the UK to be managed by a University. So we are deeply embedded in, and committed to serving, our local community. These are all conspicuous signs of a University that is not only adapting to new needs, but also anticipating the future.

Our mission is to contribute to society through the pursuit of education, learning, and research at the highest international levels of excellence. Our core values are:

- freedom of thought and expression; and
- freedom from discrimination.

About us

The University is one of the world's leading academic centres. It comprises 150 faculties and departments, together with a central administration and other institutions. Our institutions, museums and collections are a world-class resource for researchers, students and members of the public representing one of the country's highest concentrations of internationally important collections.

The University has an annual income of £2 billion. Research income, won competitively from the UK Research Councils, the European Union (EU), major charities and industry, exceeds £500 million per annum and continues to grow.

The Colleges and the University remain committed to admitting the best students regardless of their background and to investing considerable resources both in widening access and financial support. The 31 Colleges are self-governing, separate legal entities which appoint their own staff. Many academic staff are invited to join a College as a Teaching Fellow, which provides a further social and intellectual dimension. The Colleges admit students, provide student accommodation and deliver small group teaching.

The University awards degrees and its faculties and departments provide lectures and seminars for students and determine the syllabi for teaching and conducting research.

Our instinct for seeking out excellence and setting up enduring and mutually beneficial collaborations has led us to establish strategic partnerships across the globe. Whether it is the successful Cambridge-Africa Programme involving universities in Ghana, Uganda and elsewhere on the African continent; or the close association with the government of India to pursue new research in crop science; or the creation, with Germany's Max Planck Institutes, of a Cambridge-based centre for the study of ethics, human economy and social change – international partnerships are now an inextricable part of the University's make-up.

“Cambridge graduates and researchers have made – and continue to make – a colossal contribution to human knowledge and the understanding of the world around us. Their work touches on the lives and livelihoods of everyone from patients diagnosed with life-threatening diseases, to residents of areas critically affected by climate change, to children growing up in conflict zones. It has a lasting impact on our society, our economy and our culture: the world is truly a better place thanks to their efforts.”

Stephen Toope, Vice Chancellor 2019

Working at the University

Working at Cambridge you will join a diverse, talented and innovative community, with more than 18,000 students and over 16,000 staff from all walks of life and corners of the world.

The University continually explores strategies to attract and retain the best people. It is committed to supporting its staff to achieve their best. We are a fair, diverse and inclusive society and we believe our staff are our greatest asset. There is strong commitment to developing institutional leadership and supporting and encouraging staff development at all levels.

We offer a variety of roles including academic, research, professional, managerial and support roles. We also offer extensive benefits and excellent learning opportunities within a stimulating working environment.

The University's estate is undergoing the most significant transformation in its history. Cambridge has been able to create a new science and technology campus to the west of the city centre, and is now expanding further to the north west of Cambridge including investing in affordable homes for University key workers and community facilities. Even with our continued development, the University remains within walking or cycling distance across the campus. The University is a major partner on the Cambridge Biomedical Campus and we continue to redevelop our historic city centre sites demonstrating our determination to ensure that we can offer the best facilities and opportunities for our staff and students.

Equality & diversity

The University has built its excellence on the diversity of its staff and student community. We aim to be a leader in fostering equality and inclusion, and in promoting respect and a sense of belonging for all. We encourage applications from all sections of society. All appointments are made on the basis of merit. We have an Equal Opportunities Policy, along with a range of diversity networks for women, black and minority ethnic and lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender staff. More details are available here: <http://www.equality.admin.cam.ac.uk/>

The University has a bronze Race Equality Charter award, with framework for improving the representation, progression and success of minority ethnic staff and students within higher education. Furthermore, the University's Athena SWAN award recognises and celebrates good practice in recruiting, retaining and promoting women.

Living in Cambridge

Cambridge is rich in cultural diversity. From beautiful University and College buildings, museums and art galleries, quaint gardens and punts on the River Cam, to a vibrant restaurant and café scene, our employees are surrounded by the wonderful features of this unique city.

You can find a wide-range of high street shops and 3 shopping centres, with independent alternatives at the historic market and nestled within the passageways in the city centre. You will find a cinema, bowling alley, a nightclub and various live performances At the Cambridge Leisure Park, with further entertainment options at the Corn Exchange, Arts Theatre and the ADC Theatre. Further information can be found on the Visit Cambridge website.

If you prefer the faster pace of life, London is a 45 minute train journey away. For those travelling from overseas, Stansted Airport is just 45 minutes away and Heathrow Airport under 2 hours away. The University is a short distance from a host of other attractions such as Ely Cathedral, Newmarket Races and various wildlife parks and stately homes. Cambridge is also within easy reach of the beautiful Broads and coastlines of Norfolk and Suffolk.

Relocation Support

The University recognises the importance of helping individuals to move and settle into a new area. We provide support and guidance to those relocating internationally or domestically to take up a post at the University of Cambridge, liaising with other University offices and selected partners to ensure comprehensive relocation support is available. This includes: accommodation, childcare, schools, banking, immigration and transport. If you would like further information, please visit <https://www.accommodation.cam.ac.uk/>. The Shared Equity Scheme and the Reimbursement of Relocation Expenses Scheme provide financial assistance to qualifying new members of staff with the costs of relocating to Cambridge.

Accommodation Service

The University Accommodation Service helps staff, students and visiting scholars who are affiliated to the University in their search for suitable accommodation in Cambridge. The dedicated accommodation team can provide access to a wide range of University-owned furnished and unfurnished properties, and has a database of private sector accommodation available for short and long-term lets. For further information and to register with this free service please visit <https://www.accommodation.cam.ac.uk/>

What Cambridge can offer

We offer a comprehensive reward package to attract, motivate and retain high performing staff at all levels and in all areas of work.

The University offers a wide range of competitive benefits, from family leave entitlement, to shopping and travel discount schemes. Our generous annual leave package contributes to the positive wellbeing of our University employees. Sabbatical leave enables academics to focus on research and scholarship, whilst still maintaining their full salary. The University also has a career break scheme for academic and academic-related staff, with additional flexible working policies for all other staff.

Pay and benefits

The University salary structure includes automatic service-related pay progression in many of its grades and an annual cost of living increase. In addition to this, employees are rewarded for outstanding contribution through a number of regular pay progression schemes. The University offers attractive pensions schemes for employees, with an additional benefit of a salary exchange arrangement providing tax and national insurance savings. Payroll giving is also a simple, tax-efficient way for employees to make monthly donations to charity.

CAMbens employee benefits

We offer a CAMbens scheme for University employees, providing access to online and in-store shopping discounts and cashback. With more than 2,000 participating retailers, employees can save money on a wide range of household expenses, from groceries and clothes, to holidays and insurance and much more. A range of local discounts are also available, helping employees to save money whilst also supporting local Cambridge businesses and a CAMbens Cycle to Work salary sacrifice scheme is also available, which enables employees to save money on transport costs. A 10% discount rate on the purchase of train season tickets, bulk buy tickets and an interest free travel to work loan are also available for staff of the University.

What Cambridge can offer

Family-friendly policies

The University recognises the importance of supporting its staff. We have a range of family-friendly policies to aid employees' work-life balance including a generous maternity, adoption and shared parental leave entitlement of 18 weeks full pay and emergency family care support via My Family Care.

Other family-friendly support includes:

Our highly regarded workplace nurseries, a childcare salary exchange scheme and a high quality holiday Playscheme may be available to help support University employees with caring responsibilities (subject to demand and qualifying criteria). Further childcare information can be found here:

<https://www.childcare.admin.cam.ac.uk/>

The Newcomers and Visiting Scholars Group is an organisation within the University run by volunteers whose aim is to help newly arrived wives, husbands, partners and families of Visiting Scholars and members of the University to settle in Cambridge and give them an opportunity to meet local people. The Office of Postdoctoral Affairs supports the postdoctoral community within Cambridge. Further details are available here: <https://www.opda.cam.ac.uk/>

Your wellbeing

The University's Sport Centre, Counselling Services and Occupational Health are just some of the support services available to University employees to promote their physical and mental wellbeing. There are many societies in Cambridge catering for almost every taste and interest. Whether you want to take part in a sport, participate in music or drama, pursue a hobby, or join a political group, you will almost certainly find that a society exists for this purpose. The University also hosts the Cambridge Science Festival and Cambridge Festival of Ideas, as well as Open Cambridge weekend, which together attract over 50,000 visitors per year. The festivals are a great opportunity to get your first taste of public engagement, through volunteering, supporting hands-on activities or proposing a talk.

Development opportunities

We support new employees to settle in through various activities. The encouragement of career development for all staff is one of the University's values and we put this into practice through various services and initiatives. Our Personal and Professional Development Department provides development opportunities and courses for all University employees. These include face-to-face sessions, online learning modules and webinars. Employees may also apply for financial support to undertake training that will lead to a qualification. We offer reduced staff fees for University of Cambridge graduate courses and the opportunity to attend lectures and seminars held by University departments and institutions. The CareerStart@Cam programme also supports employees in assistant staff roles who do not hold higher education qualifications to develop their skills, experience and qualifications.
