Research Seminars on Chinese Linguistics and L2 Chinese

The Research Seminars on Chinese Linguistics and L2 Chinese are held by the L2 Chinese research group of the Faculty of Asian and Middle Eastern Studies (FAMES). The aims of these seminars are to provide a platform for researchers to discuss recent development in the field, to present their work and to receive feedback from fellow researchers. The seminars are supervised by Dr. Boping Yuan (FAMES).

Friday, 28th October, 2016
Yanyu Guo: Acquiring double-marking structures: the case of aspectual marking in L2 Mandarin Chinese by English-speaking learners

Friday, 4th November, 2016
Nana Huang: L2 acquisition of Chinese Applicative-DOC and -DUC by English, Spanish and Korean speakers

Friday, 18th November, 2016 in Room L1 at the Faculty
Woramon Prawatmuang: Effects of L1 transfer and input availability on L2 acquisition: evidence from L2 Chinese and Thai

Friday, 25th November, 2016
Manyun Liu: Chinese Reflexives in L2 acquisition and L1 Attrition

Except as noted above, all seminars meet in Room 7 at the Faculty.
The seminar starts at 4:00pm and ends at 6:00pm.

All are welcome!

For more information, please contact Ruyi Dai (e-mail: rd486@cam.ac.uk).