The University of Cambridge Department of East Asian Studies is pleased to announce the following lecture in its series of East Asian seminars.

This seminar starts at 5:00PM and will take place in Rooms 8 & 9 in the Faculty of Asian & Middle Eastern Studies (formerly Oriental Studies), Sidgwick Avenue, Cambridge CB3 9DA, unless otherwise indicated.

ALL ARE WELCOME

“International Law in Japan, 1931-1960: from Greater East Asia to Pax Americana”

Professor Urs Matthias Zachmann
University of Edinburgh
8 October 2012, Rooms 8 and 9, 5:00 pm

Professor Urs Matthias Zachmann is the Handa Professor of Japanese-Chinese Relations at the University of Edinburgh. He graduated from Heidelberg University (MA, PhD) and completed his Habilitation in Japanese Studies at the University of Munich. He is also qualified as an attorney at law and a member of the bar in Germany. His fields of specialization are Japan's international relations, law and legal sociology in East Asia, and the political and intellectual history of modern Japan. Among his most recent publications are: China and Japan in the Late Meiji Period: China Policy and the Japanese Discourse on National Identity, 1895-1904 (Routledge, 2009/11) and (in German) International Law in Japan: War and Visions of International Order in the International Legal Discourse of Japan, 1919-1960 (in publication, Nomos 2013).